Following the release of Center of Your World earlier this year, and a series of singles showcasing a more introspective side to his songwriting, Fernando Honorato is back with "Bonus Tracks & Remixes", a compilation reflecting the creative process behind that album. The compilation will be available digitally and as a limited-edition CD on 21 November.

It gathers together all the remixes produced during the "Center of Your World" sessions, some of which were previously released as B-sides to singles and others which are appearing here for the first time. Alongside these reworkings are several bonus tracks originally intended for the album, including a cover of "Change", the 2013 track by English band White Lies.

The release showcases the collaborative nature of Honorato's music, featuring reinterpretations by artists who have a creative connection to his work, including Danish Post Punk band The Foreign Resort and Finnish artist and multi-instrumentalist Jaakko Eino Kalevi, among others. The result is a cohesive yet exploratory collection suited to reflective listening throughout the autumn and winter months.

"Bonus Tracks & Remixes" brings the 'Center of Your World' chapter to a close with warmth and curiosity - a fitting companion to an album that found strength in quiet emotion and left space for new interpretations to emerge.
